CALL FOR SESSIONS

The Call for Abstracts for ICYMARE 2026 BREMEN is now open! Submit your abstract until May 15, 2026.

Presenting at ICYMARE

ICYMARE is an accessible marine science conference created for students and early-career researchers. It offers a welcoming way to share your work, be it your BSc or MSc thesis, part of your PhD project, or a study from your current research activities. By presenting at ICYMARE 2026 BREMEN, you practice communicating your work while receiving helpful feedback from your peers and connecting with others in the marine science community.

You can choose whether to share your research as a talk or a poster, depending on what is suitable for your project. A prior publication is not required; work that is still in progress is just as welcome as completed studies.

Submitting your Abstract

- Create or log in to your MyICYMARE account. If you have joined ICYMARE before, your account is still active. Please make sure your profile information is up to date before submitting your abstract.
- Choose the session that best matches your research topic. If none of the topical sessions seem fitting, you are welcome to submit to the ICYMARE Open Session.
- Submit your abstract by May 15, 2026. Please follow the submission guidelines provided in your MyICYMARE area. The submission form closes at 5 p.m. CET. Late submissions or submissions outside the MyICYMARE system cannot be considered.
- You may submit one abstract for an oral presentation and/or one for a poster presentation. Additional submissions of the same type cannot be accepted.
- You also need to submit a short academic CV, including your background and current academic status (this will not be published but helps the session hosts to introduce you).

Naming Convention

Please label all documents as follows:

FIRST NAME_LAST NAME_TYPE OF DOCUMENT

Examples: EVA_EXAMPLE_ABSTRACT or MAX_MUSTERMANN_CV

After submission, your abstract will be reviewed by ICYMARE session hosts, who may ask for clarifications, suggest improvements, or recommend moving your abstract to a session that fits better. If needed, you may also be asked to switch between an oral or poster presentation to support the structure of the session. All accepted abstracts will be published in the ICYMARE 2026 BREMEN Book of Abstracts.

Please note: Each year, we receive a number of AI-generated submissions. We can identify them (yes, we really can!), and any application suspected to be created by AI will be excluded from the selection process.

Questions?

For any questions, please contact us at abstract@icymare.com. If you plan to present a talk or a poster, you may also apply for an ICYMARE Travel Grant (link to travel grant website) to support your travel to ICYMARE 2026 BREMEN.
